

Roosevelt Will Support Hughes He Says

To the Progressive National Committee.

Gentlemen—In accordance with the message I sent to the Progressive National Convention as soon as I had received the notification that it had nominated me for President, I now communicate to you my reasons for declining the honor which I so deeply appreciate. Since the adjournment of the convention, I have received between two and three thousand letters and telegrams from men who had supported me for the nomination, the majority expressing the desire that I would refuse to run, while a minority urged that I should accept the nomination. As it is a physical impossibility to answer these letters and telegrams individually, I beg of the courtesy of the readers that they will accept this public statement in lieu of such answers.

The results of the terrible world war of the past two years have not made it evident to all who are willing to see, that in this country there must be spiritual and industrial preparedness, along the lines of efficiency, of loyal service to the Nation, and of practical application of the precept that each man must be his brother's keeper. Furthermore, it is no less evident, that this preparedness for the tasks of peace forms the only sound basis for that indispensable military preparedness which rests on universal military training, and which finds no expression in universal obligatory service in time of war.

Sooner or later the national principles championed by the Progressives of 1912 must in their general effect be embodied in our national existence. With all my heart I shall continue to work for these great ideals, shoulder to shoulder with the men and women who in 1912 championed them; and I am sure that these men and women will show a like loyalty to the other, the fundamental, ideals which the events of the past two years have proven to be vital to the permanency of our national existence. The methods by which we are to show our loyalty to these ideals must be determined in each case by the actual event. Our loyalty is to the fact, to the principle, to the ideal, and not merely to the name, and least of all to the party name.

The progressive movement has been given an incalculable impetus by what the Progressive party has done. Our strongest party antagonists have accepted and enacted into law, or embodied in their party platforms, very many of our most important principles. Much has been accomplished in awakening the public to a better understanding of the problems of social and industrial welfare.

Yet it has become entirely evident that the people under existing conditions are not prepared to accept a new party.

Oppose Democrats.

This was the situation at the opening of the present year. It was clearly evident that unless a cataclysm occurred the presidential election would result in the choice either of the Republican or the Democratic nominee. The present administration, during its three years of life, had been guilty of shortcomings more signal than those of any administration since the days of Buchanan. From the standpoint of national honor and interest, it stood on an even lower level than the administration of Buchanan. No administration in our history had done more to relax the spring of the national will and to deaden the national conscience. Within the Republican conflicting forces were at work.

There were men among the organization leaders who advocated a course of action such as offered no improvement upon the Democratic position, and advocated the nomination of candidates whose election would have represented no improvement upon the continuance in office of Mr. Wilson. If such a course were followed, it would obviously become duty to run a third ticket. But it was plainly our duty to do everything honorable in order to prevent such a necessity; to do everything short of sacrificing our most sacred convictions in order to secure the alignment under one leadership of the forces opposed to the continuance in power of Mr. Wilson and the Democratic party.

Duty in Outlook.

Under these circumstances the Progressive national committee, at Chicago, in January, outlined our duty to seek common action with the Republican party, using the following words: "Our people are seeking leadership—leadership of the highest order and most courageous character; leadership that will draft to itself for the country's benefit the unselfish and patriotic services of its ablest citizens. The surest way to secure for our country the required leadership will be by having, if possible, both the Progressive and the Republican parties choose the same standard bearer and the same principles."

Six weeks later, on March 9th, in my Trinidad statement, I asked for a similar combination against the Democratic party, on a platform of "clean-cut, straight-out national leadership," and for a candidate "who will not merely stand for such a programme before election, but will resolutely and in good faith put it through if elected."

This was, in effect, the same statement that I made in my telegram to ex-Senator Jackson, pending the convention, which ran in part as follows: "Can we not, forgetting past differences, now join, for the safety and honor of our country, to enforce the policies of genuine americanism and genuine preparedness? Surely we can afford to act in accordance with the words of Abraham Lincoln when he said, 'May not all having a common interest unite in a common effort to save our common country?' May we ask those who have not differed with us to join in this same spirit toward those who have?" As far as my own soul is known to me it is in this same spirit that at this time I make my appeal to the Republicans and Progressives assembled at Chicago.

To Support Hughes.

In my judgment, the nomination of Mr. Hughes meets the conditions set forth in the statement of the Progressive national committee, issued last January, and in my own statement. Under existing conditions, the nomination of a third ticket would, in my judgment, be merely a move in the interest of the election of Mr. Wilson. I regard Mr. Hughes as a man whose public record is a guarantee that "he will not merely stand for a programme of clean-cut, straight-out national leadership before election, but will resolutely and in good faith put it through if elected." He is beyond all comparison better fitted to be President than Mr. Wilson. It would be a grave dereliction to the country to re-elect Mr. Wilson. I shall, therefore, strongly support Mr. Hughes. Such being the case, it is unnecessary to say that I cannot accept the nomination on a third ticket. I do not believe that there should be a third ticket. I believe that when my fellow Progressives coolly consider the question they will for the most part take this position. They and I have but one purpose—the purpose to serve our common country. It is my deep conviction that at this moment we can serve it only by supporting Mr. Hughes.

Defends Candidate.

It is urged against Mr. Hughes that he was supported by the various so-called German-American alliances. I believe that the attitude of these professional German-Americans was due, not in the least to any liking for Mr. Hughes, but solely to their antagonism to me. They were bound to defeat me for the nomination. The only way by which they could achieve this object was by supporting him accordingly, without any regard to other considerations. I need hardly repeat what I have already said in stern reprobation of this professional German-American element—the element typified in the German-American alliance and the smaller bodies, which have, in the pre-nomination campaign, played not merely an un-American but a thoroughly anti-American part. These men have nothing in common with the great body of Americans who are in whole who are precisely as good Americans as those of any other ancestry. There are not, and never have been, in all our land, better citizens than the great mass of the men and women of German birth or descent who have been or are being completely merged in our common American nationality. A nationality distinct from any in Europe, for Americans who are good Americans are no more German-Americans than they are English-Americans, or Irish-Americans. They are Americans and nothing else. No good American, whatever his ancestry of creed, can have any feeling except scorn and detestation for those professional

Immediate Release of American Prisoners Demanded of Carranza

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The text of the note to the Mexican de facto government, transmitted Sunday to James Lynn Rodgers, special representative of the American government in Mexico City, says: "Mr. Arredondo yesterday delivered to this government the following communication:

"I am directed by my government to inform your excellency, with reference to the Carrizal incident, that the chief executive, through the Mexican war office to Gen. Jacinto B. Trevino not to permit American forces from Gen. Pershing's column to advance further south nor to move either east or west from the points where they are located and to oppose new incursions of American soldiers into Mexican territory. These orders were brought by Gen. Trevino to the attention of Gen. Pershing, who acknowledged the receipt of the communication relative thereto. On the 22nd instant, as your excellency knows, an American force moved eastward quite far from its base, notwithstanding the above orders, and was engaged by Mexican troops at Carrizal, state of Chihuahua. As a result of the encounter several men on both sides were killed and wounded and 17 American soldiers were made prisoners.

"You are hereby instructed to hand to the minister of foreign relations of the de facto government the following: "The government of the United States can put no other construction upon the communication handed to the secretary of state of the United States on the 24th of June, by Mr. Arredondo, under instruction of your government, than that it is intended as a formal avowal of deliberately hostile action against the forces of the United States now in Mexico and of the purpose to attack them without provocation whenever they move from their present position in pursuance of the objects for which they were sent there, notwithstanding the fact that those objects not only involve no unfriendly intention towards the government and people of Mexico, but are on the contrary intended only to assist that government in protecting itself and the territory and people of the United States against irresponsible and insurgent bands of rebel marauders.

"I am instructed, therefore, by my government to demand the immediate release of the prisoners taken in the encounter at Carrizal, together with any property of the United States taken with them, and to inform you that the government of the United States expects an early statement from your government as to the course of action it wishes the government of the United States to understand it has determined upon and that it also expects that this statement be made through the usual diplomatic channels, and not through subordinate military commanders."

Pythians Offer One Regiment

Meeting Held of Uniform Rank Officers at Indianapolis—Send Circulars.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 26.—At a meeting Sunday afternoon in the Denison hotel, the Indiana brigade, uniform rank, K. of P. officers, decided to offer the government one regiment of members for Mexican service. More than 100 officers from various parts of the state attended the meeting. Circulars calling upon every lodge in the state to assist in recruiting will be sent out Monday by Grand Chancellor Charles F. Remy, Indianapolis. Recruiting will commence Tuesday.

The meeting of the uniform rank officers was called by Gen. William B. Gray, Covington, Ind. The members of the staff from the majority of lodges in the state responded.

In the Indiana brigade there are now nine full regiments, but many of the members are outside the United States army requirements. Out of these regiments it is the plan of the state officers to secure one complete regiment. Many of the members of the uniform rank are above the age limit and some are physically unfit.

Membership in the proposed company is not confined alone to the members of the uniform rank, but is open to all Knights of Pythias. The officers decided to hold their annual encampment at Nashville, Tenn., and to make the gathering a preparedness camp.

The next meeting will be at the call of Gen. Gray.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE MEN IN CONVENTION

Sen. Jones Advocates Keeping Out of Politics and Would Have States Pass on It.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 26.—The annual national convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America opened Sunday afternoon with more than 1,000 in attendance. The greater number of the delegates and visitors are expected to arrive Monday.

United States Sen. Wesley L. Jones of Washington was the principal speaker at the opening session. In his address he said that congress should submit the question of a prohibition amendment to the federal constitution to the various states without delay. When the states are given the opportunity to pass on the question, such an amendment would be carried, he said. Prohibition should be kept out of politics, Sen. Jones asserted. It is only to the interest of the liquor interests to allow it to become involved in the political issues of the day by causing a division of the strength of the forces of the liquor traffic. P. A. Baker of Westerville, O., superintendent of the league, presided at the opening session and delivered an address.

International News Service: KOKOMO, Ind.—The drum corps of the anti-militarist socialist party came out on the streets last night to aid in recruiting a company in the national guard. Hundreds of persons cheered the socialists.
